The 2007 CABERNET SAUVIGNON is what I'd call fairly typical in style for what this estate produces in this bottling—good balance, some brightness, nice structure, some herbaceous notes, but it does seem to be a pretty good effort and good value in this vintage. Loire Valley Cab Franc fans may be happier than Napa Cabernet fans. I would note that it improved significantly with air and has fine depth for its price range—more so than the pricier Reserva. Drink now-2017.

Muito bons aromas à casta, com o Cabernet maduro, lembrando frutos silvestres, minerais, leve vegetal sem excessos. Cheio na boca, com taninos gordos e sólidos, Madeira muito bem integrada é um tinto vigoroso mas polido, bem construído com garra contida no final bem persistente.
